JULY 2016

COUPE DU MONDE DE LA PÂTISSERIE 2017, THE TEAMS' SCHEDULE IS ALREADY ANNOUNCED!

The order in which the countries will be competing for Coupe du Monde de la Pâtisserie 2017 is already known! For the first time in the history of the contest, the places were attributed by drawing of lots – supervised by an official bailiff – more than 5 months ahead of the final, that will be held on January 22nd and 23rd 2017 at Eurexpo, Lyon.

The 23 teams that qualified for the final are composed of a chocolate maker, a pastry chef and an ice-cream specialist. They can now fine tune their strategy with respect to their schedule in order to impress the exceptional judges who will taste the 69 sweet creations and assess the 23 presentations including the pieces made of sugar, chocolate and sculpted hydric ice.

4 NEW PARTICIPANTS

The 2015-2016 selection rounds revealed 4 new countries: Thailand, India, Indonesia and Chile, that will join the final of the contest for the very first time. The 2017 edition will also mark the return of France. Indeed, as the winners of the 2013 edition, the country was not allowed to take part in 2015.

In order to maintain a certain pressure on the finalists, in June this year, the organisers released the details concerning the new rules to be introduced for the final in 2017.
